Rummage is an exciting, winner-take-all race to the finish line in which players traverse the game board on rolls of the die, earning an extra turn each time they achieve one of the constantly-evolving card combinations required to roll and move again. There are 45 different combinations to encounter in Rummage, widely varying definitions of sets and runs in which the challenge of the moment is dictated by the space just landed upon. For example, one might need 3 even-numbered cards of the same color PLUS 4 odd-numbered cards with the same shape in order to roll again. Players do well to think ahead when deciding which cards to keep and which to discard since the hand that might have benefited them a moment ago may be quite different from what will be needed going forward. The Rummage deck also contains a number of wild card variants that can prove to be a godsend in besting your opponents. Win or lose, there is a great deal of socially-interactive fun to be had in this wonderfully-enhanced adaptation of the classic sets-and-runs game. For 2 to 6 players, ages 7 and up!
