Description: This is a fun little listen-to-the-clues book. Kids listen then guess what animal is on the next page. There might be many new animals and unknown clues for the first number of readings. But, eventually the kids....LEARN. And, as parents have shared, they learn the ORDER of the animals. So, suggestion is that you eventually read them OUT of order. Yeah, that will make them REALLY listen.

It's a common pet.
There's many breeds.
They wag their tails
and will proceed
to fetch a ball
or lick a face.
Most will love
a warm embrace.

You've heard the facts.
You've heard the clues.
Who do you think...
is waiting for you?

It's a DOG!

You took a guess.
Were you right?
If you weren't
next time you might
take a guess
and be correct.
It will happen,
I suspect.

Wow! If a DOG
is what you guessed
I must admit...
I'm impressed!

*Note:
You may choose to read both paragraphs or just the RED for an incorrect guess and just the GREEN
for a correct response.

With the thickest brown fur
that's filled up with air
they float on their backs
with grace and flair.
To groom all that hair
takes most of the day.
With the time that is left
they eat and they play.

You've heard the facts.
You've heard the clues.
Who do you think...
is waiting for you?

You took a guess.
Were you right?
If you weren't
next time you might
take a guess
and be correct.
It will happen,
I suspect.

Wow! If an OTTER
is what you guessed
I must admit...
I'm impressed!

It's an OTTER!

They live in Australia.
The moms have a pouch.
With two fewer ribs
they naturally slouch.
They eat eucalyptus.
Their coat is gray hair.
They sleep 20 hours.
Some THINK they're a bear.
(they're NOT)

You've heard the facts.
You've heard the clues.
Who do you think...
is waiting for you?

You took a guess.

Wow! If KOALA
is what you guessed
I must admit...
